THE POTTER COMMITTEE.

More Testimony Regarding the Sherman Letter.

By Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, July 3 —The Potter Committee met at 11 o'clock, E. L. Weber was recalled and testified that the conference held in New Orleans, during the count in 1876, he understood, was led by Senator Sherman. In conversation with Sherman the witness was assured if his brother stood by his protest he would be protected. At Sherman's request he went after his brother and Anderson. His brother had a long conversation with Sherman regarding the protest. Two or three days after this his brother showed him Sherman's letter of assurance, told him Sherman gave it to him at the conclusion of the conference, in relation to his standing by his protest and remarked that it was the best he could do at the time. Witness, in response to a question, said he had the letter in his hands; it was written on double sheet note paper. The witness then showed the size of the sheet Mrs. Jenks said the letter was written on. She claims it was on single sheet commercial letter paper.

The witness said it was arranged before the election by Kellogg, Thos. C. Anderson, and Packard that they were to secure affidavits of intimidation in East and West Feliciana parishes, for the purpose of throwing out those parishes. He was assured if he would use his influence with his brother towards having him make a protest, he (witness) would be returned to the Senate. He was defeated for the State Senate by about 1,200 votes, and was returned as elected by six hundred majority. The witness read a letter from L. A. Sheldon to Mrs. Dan Weber, dated New Orleans, May 26, saying it was important to have her as a witness before the Potter committee. The letter was handed Mrs. Weber by Mrs. Jenks, who informed Mrs. Weber that Sheldon desired her to go to Washington and testify that she did not know of the existence of the Sherman letter. Mrs. Weber refused, unless she was called upon by the proper authorities. Whereupon, Jenks threatened to have her arrested and taken to Washington At that time a brother of Mrs. D. A. Weber came to Donaldsonville and seeing Mrs. Jenks, asked her what that woman was doing there again and whether she was after the Sherman letter? Mrs. Jenks told brother not to meddle with her affairs; she had the Sherman letter and knew what to do with it. E. L. Weber had not then informed his sister-in-law that he had destroyed the document. Mrs. Jenks had told Mrs. Weber that the letter was worth a thousand dollars and she would pay her a good price for it. Mrs. Jenks never intimated to Mrs. Weber that she had anything to do with the authorship of the Sherman letter, but always spoke of it as a letter written by John Sherman assuring Mrs. Weber and Anderson of positions under the administration.

The witness submitted a letter written him by Judge Marks, now Internal Revenue Collector of New Orleans, wherein Marks requested the witness to inform him whether he had received the appointment he had made application for; if not, he (Marks) would look after it for him. He also requested the witness to inform Mrs. Weber that he thought he could succeed in securing her an appointment as Postmistress at Donaldsonville, for which she had once applied but had been unsuccessful, Marks being, at that time, opposed to her appointment. Marks, previous to writing this, had been at Donaldsonville and requested Mrs. Weber to make a statement to the effect that he had never known of the existence of Sherman's letter. During this visit, Marks had told the witness and his sister-in-law that they were both to be summoned as witnesses before the Investigating Committee. The witness stated that as he was under the impression that the approaches made by Marks were merely with a view of influencing his testimony before the Committee, he gave him no encouragement whatever, Marks had stated to certain parties he could control Mrs. Weber's testimony before the Committee. Witness was ordered to report to the Louisiana Sub Committee, on the 10th instant, and the Committee adjourned until that date.

The California Election.

By Telegraph to the News.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Official election returns have been received from all except seven counties, besides San Francisco, in which the official canvass is not yet complete. The counties yet to hear from, will give non-partisan majorities. The result of the count shows undoubtedly that the non-partisans have elected all their 32 delegates at large, and probably 54 county delegates; though they may lose one of that number. The Kearneyites elect 51, and possibly 52, county delegates. The Republicans 8, and the Democrats 7. Non-partisans will thus have a majority of 17 in the convention, or 20 over all others. It must also be remembered that the Republicans and Democrats were elected to represent the conservative element; it is also true, that a number of delegates from the interior on the Workingmen's ticket are not in sympathy with what is known as "Kearneyism" and the same is said of the city delegation. The revolutionary element will form only a small minority in the convention.

McCrary on the Law.

Washington Post.

Can't the members of Mr. Hayes' fraudulent Cainet execute the laws of Congress without previously stating their reasons for so doing? Secretary)so-called) McCrary is reported as saying that he shall enforce the clause in the new army law forbiding troops to be used at elections, because he believes "that the best way to get rid of a bad law is to enforce it." It seems to us we heard that platitude soon after Morton spent two hours in helping Grant to commit it to memory.

The Christian Statesman.

Charleston News and Courier.

Secretary Sherman's political or moral sense is curiously distorted. He evidently believes that any proof that there was intimidation in Feliciana will clear him of the charge that he used his influence with Weber and Anderson, and promised them offices to induce them to make false statements concerning the election. A thief, whose defence was that he could prove that the man he stole from was a forger or house-breaker, would not stand much chance of acquittal in an ordinary court.

Suspicion Circumstance.

Charleston News and Courier.

The damaging circumstances, as to Mr. Hayes, is that he appointed to Government offices, on the recommendation of Chandler, nearly every one of the persons who were active agents in manipulating the Florida vote. Why did he do it, if he knew nothing of their rascality? Honest dealing is not usually so richly rewarded by Uncle Sam.

OUR ANTIQUITIES.

Discoveries in Western North Carolina.

Correspondence of the News.

ASHEVILLE, July 1.

On Reem's creek, county of Buncombe, State of North Carolina, we found a mound covering nearly one acre of land, circular on the ground and represented to have been at the time of the first known settlers, nearly twenty feet high. It is situated on a bottom about seventeen feet from a brook, and has been cultivated over for many years. The plough and the elements have reduced its height to about five feet. No signs can be seen from what point or place from which the soil of which is composed was taken from, nor are there any evidences by what means the dirt was transported in the immediate vicinity, and on this mound we found bones of part of the human frame in good condition, also found portions which had been carbonized, also found the the leg bone of a dog and various pieces of pottery, on several of the latter we found ornamental work similar to that we found on St. George Island, Florida, in the vicinity of a mound and it is our intention to give this a critical comparison with the latter to see if formed of the same kind of material and also to see if the workmanship was similar from which we were in hopes to deduce and satisfy ourselves if the builders were the same, or were in intimate connections. My particular attention was directed to earthern pieces about one inch in diameter, 3-16 in thickness, the edge rounded, on this I could not perceive an indentation nor marks. As yet, I do not conceive their use, in no other locality have I ever seen them in connection with a, or in the vicinity of a mound. We also found conch and oyster shells and a sea shell similar to the first instalment of conch. Mr. K. Ray dug into this mound some years since and found bones carbonized among partly consumed pure wood, having the appearance that the body had been cremated. Mr. Pentlan also dug into it to see if it was built on the level of the surrounding bottom. and found it was. We ascribe this work to no particular people, and are satisfied that there record history has not been read. Comparison with the remains of others may show and give us some little light. I hope some party will thoroughly examine and note down their conclusions. I was shown what is termed an Indian arrow head made of a beautiful clouded flint.

Mr. Hershell Haskins, of Hominy Creek, presented me with one of the finest specimen of Indian stone Tomahawks that I have ever seen. The shape would be a pure model for a steel one.

Mr. Helsey Ray exhibited a stone maul found among the ancient mica mounds, and he informs me that on the debris, which they removed, was found an oak which showed five hundred and forty-three rings, or different periods of growth indicating that number of years since it started from the acorn. I should be happy to acquire specimens of these manufactures of the Stone age, that I might more fully study their use and, perhaps, learn something more of their manufactures.

We have heretofore spoken of cremation. As we of this time render, perhaps it could be better expressed by some other name. From my investigation I am led to believe that the bones we find in the center of this mound were those of prisoners to the Indian who were brought to these important points, general notice given, and large assemblage gathered, then a hole was dug and the prisoner burnt to death and the remains covered. RAILROADS.

Winston and Mooresville Railroad---Winston and Mt. Airy Railroad---Winston and Danville Railroad.

Correspondence of the News.

WINSTON, July 2.

Monday evening the business men of Winston and Salem met to make more thorough and definite arrangements as to the above-named railroads. A resolution was offered to the effect that, as the people of Winston and Salem were desirous of having railroads from W. to the above-named points, were in earnest as to the enterprise, and desired and were willing to assist in building these roads, that the chairman should appoint delegates to visit Danville, Leaksville, Walnut Cove, Mt. Airy, Mooresville, Statesville, Madison and Charlotte, to express to these people their desire to aid, co-operate with their money and means, and render every assistance possible to build the roads at the earliest possible day.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Col. Alspaugh and Maj. T. J. Brown, to Mt. Airy.

Mr. John Fries and Dr. Brown, to Mooresville, Statesville and Charlotte.

Messrs. Joseph Stockton and S. E. Allen, to Leaksville and Walnut Cove.

Col. Patterson, to Danville.

These delegates were instructed to pledge $15,000 to each road, with a promise to do as much more as possible. They are to report as soon as they return and other movements are then to be made. The company formed here on the 27th ult., are to meet at Mocksvillé, on the 17th inst., to organize the company and elect a board of directors.

The statute under which the company is to be formed, requires $1,000 per mile to be subscribed and five per cent. to be paid in cash. The delegates from here to Mocksville will carry the five per cent. on the $45,000, and will be instructed to mean business.

The spirit of enterprise seems to be fully aroused, and when such men as met in last meeting, take an enterprise in hand, we may expect something done. Winston will then be the central point of four Railroads, and with its salubrious climate, rich resources as to agricultural and mineral productions, beautiful scenery, enterprising citizens, and the many manufactories now in operation, we predict for her a bright future.

We will give you report of next meeting, also of the meeting at Mocksville on the 17th inst.

Justifiable Forgery.

Washington Post.

As we understand the recently published letter of John Sherman, what he wants is, to be allowed to introduce evidence in justification of the subornation of perjury and forgery with which he stands charged. As a matter of fact, there is no crime known as "justifiable" in law, except homicide. Subornation of forgery and perjury cannot be justified.

CHATHAM CONVENTION,

Democratic Nominations and Official Proceedings.

By Request of the Convention.

PITTSBORO, July 3.

Pursuant to a call by the Democratic Executive Committee of Chatham county, the delegates from the several townships met in convention on Monday, July 1st, at the Court House in Pittsboro to nominate candidates for the county offices and members of the Legislature.

John A. Womack, Esq., called the Convention to order, and acted as chairman, pro tem. On motion of J. F. Rives, Esq., Capt. C. B. Denson was unanimously chosen president, and upon taking his seat addressed the very large assemblage in a few well-timed remarks The convention being ready to proceed to business, Junius A. Alston, Esq., moved that L. J. Kirkman and H. M. Cowan be appointed secretaries, which was agreed to.

Among other resolutions in relation to the government of the convention, the following, introduced by A. H. Merritt, Esq., was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the candidates for places in the Legislature are hereby instructed, in case of their election to abide by and conform to the action of the Democratic Legislative caucus in regard to the United States Senator to be chosen; and no person shall be considered a nominee of this convention who declines to pledge himself to a strict compliance with the spirit and letter of this resolution.

The convention then went into the election of the various county officers and members of the Legislature as per resolutions.

Rufus B. Clegg received the nomination for county Surveyor.

Charles R. Brown, Coroner.

Capt. L. R. Exline, Register of Deeds.

W. G. Albright, Clerk of the Court.

John W. Taylor, Sheriff.

J. M. Moring and J. J. Goldston for the House, and A. H. Merritt for Senator.

The following resolutions of R. H. Cowan, Esq., was adopted amid great applause.

WHEREAS, We recognize in the Hon. John Manning an able stateman, a pure patriot, and a christian gentleman, therefore this convention do Resolve, That the delegates from this county to the Congressional Convention be requested to vote for him for Congress from this District.

By a resolution of J. A. Alston the chair was requested to appoint a committee of three to select the Democratic Executive Committees for the different Townships, and also the Central Executive Committee. This committee, consisting of Junius A. Alston, J. F. Rives and J. A. Burnett, after consultation, reported as follows:

Resolutions were passed directing the secretaries to forward copies of the proceedings to the Raleigh Daily News, and the Observer, with the request that they publish the same.

After short speeches from several of the candidates, the convention adjourned.

C. B. DENSON, President.

H. M. COWAN, W. L. KIRKMAN, } Secretaries.

ROCKY RIVER SPRINGS.

A Stanly County Resort.

Monroe Enquirer.

Just across Rocky River, in Stanly county, at the foot of three mountains, the bases of which form a fountain, gush forth three most excellent springs of water—sulphur, magnesia and iron. These waters are said to be of exceeding strength, and their curative powers are unequaled.

Before the late war these springs and the country immediately surrounding were owned by several wealthy South Carolinians, who were in the habit of spending the warm summer months on the pleasant heights of the mountains, and quaffing of the health-giving waters below. The place was highly improved, but no vestige now remains of the dwellings erected and devoted, in ante bellum times, to pleasure and mirth. At the breaking out of the war, for some cause unknown to us the proprietors, as a gift, assigned the property to Mrs. Green, a widow lady, as we are told, who would never permit the springs being opened or any improvement being made. Recently, however, this lady has died; and the property being exposed to sale, was purchased by a joint stock company, who are rapidly improving the place for the accommodation of the health-seeking by next season. They now have in course of construction a building which will accommodate some fifty or sixty when finished, We are told that it is also the intention of the owners to erect a female college on one of the mountains. The country around opens to the view many natural attractions and the mountains themselves afford a delightful haunt for recreation and pleasure. These springs have never been opened to the public; hence they have remained in comparative obscurity; but few persons, indeed, knowing of their existence.

Religious Permanency.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

The language of St. Paul, uttered eighteen hundred years ago, is applicable to the present time. What he said to young Timothy, we may with propriety repeat to our readers; "But shun profane and vain bablings, for they will increase unto more ungodliness. Their word will eat as doth a canker of whom is Hymeneus and Philetus, who concerning the truth have erred, saying the resurrection is past already, and overthrow the faith of some. Nevertheless, the foundation of God standeth sure." Is the foundation of christians sure and firm? We answer, yes.

PARTY FEALTY.

Governor Vance and the Senatorship in 1872—His Letter Withdrawing from the Contest—No Personal Aspiration to Interpose Against the Will of the People and the Welfare of the Party.

Charlotte Observer.

In view of the public interest now enlisted in the next United States Senatorship, and in view of the fact that a repetition of the history of the struggle over this position in the winter of 1872 seems now to be in order, it is not out of place to republish the brilliant letter of Gov. Vance, written on the 30th of November, in withdrawing his name from the contest for the Senatorship. This letter was written late at night for presentation to the caucus next morning. It was written after many fruitless ballots, and at a time when there appeered to be no prospect whatever of a healing of the breach which had been made in the party ranks. It was a move in the interest of party unity and harmony. It was a deliberate sacrifice of his own aspirations for the common good. It was a noble deed, and no amount of ridicule or sarcasm can dim the lustre of the patriotism which prompted it. Regardless of the entreaties of his friends he refused to withdraw the letter. Besieged at the depot by two or more of the bolters who urged him to remain, under promise that they and all the disaffected element would support him, he scorned their overtures; refused to allow his name to be again presented to the caucus, unless it was done by the bolters themselves, and departed for his home, leaving behind him with the caucus the following letter—an undying testimonial to his patriotic impulses and party fealty. We commend it anew to the consideration of the people of North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 30, 1872.

To the Democratic Members of the Legislature:—

GENTLEMEN:—Grateful as I am to you for the honor which you have conferred upon me by giving me the nomination for the position of United States Senator, I beg leave to herewith return you my thanks and withdraw my name.

I am induced to take this step by the fact that, although I was nominated with a degree of unanimity almost unparalleled in our party history, yet a number of gentlemen, sufficient to prevent an election, have seen proper to refuse to abide by that nomination, and have produced a schism in our party, which, if prolonged, could not fail to endanger it and all the precious interests which it has in charge.

Duty and patriotism, therefore, both demand that my preferment should yield to the common good, and I cheerfully make the sacrifice.

I regard the Conservative-Democratic party as the main hope of our country. Born of the great revolution through which we have but lately passed, the child of oppression and cruelty, it has drawn around its banners all who revere constitutional liberty and hope for the welfare of our children; and I have never seen the hour when I would not willingly surrender any personal aspiration whatsoever if thereby I might in any degree uphold its hands. Especially should this be done when, shadowed as it is by a recent great defeat, the ambitious or the wicked may seek occasion to fatally stab it under the pretence of its necessary dissolution.

Earnestly hoping that you may be able to obtain entire unanimity in the nomination of some other and worthier gentleman, and again thanking you, and without irritation at the result, or anger toward those who contributed to it, I return to my home. There, as in the past I have done, so in the future I shall continue with all my ability, to advocate and labor for the success of our cause, expecting only the approbation of my countrymen.

Very respectfully and truly,
Your friend and fellow-citizen,
ZEBULON B. VANCE.

CABARRUS COUNTY.

Last Court of Judge Cox---Political Affairs in Cabarrus.

Correspondence of the News.

CONCORD, July 2.

The Spring term of the Superior Court of Cabarrus county opened on Monday, his honor Judge W. R. Cox on the bench, Maj. W. J. Montgomery solicitor.

There were ninety-three criminal and seventy-four civil cases on the docket. The only cases of special interest were the capital cases: The State vs. W. J. Nicholson and Henry Etheridge, charged with murdering Kate Barringer, colored. The prisoners were arraigned and plead not guilty, and upon filing an affidavit that they could not get justice done them in Cabarrus, their case was removed to Union, and set for trial on Wednesday of that court.

The Court dispatches business with great facility, having nearly cleared the criminal docket already. The civil docket will be reached early to-morrow.

Members of the bar present: resident, Solicitor Montgomery, W. M. Smith, Col. P. B. Means, W. M. Coleman, and H. S. Puryear; non-resident, Hon. J. H. Wilson, Shipp and Bailey, Gen. R. Barringer, and W. W. Fleming, of Charlotte; S. J. Pemberton and J. R. Redwine, of Stanley.

JUDGE COX'S LAST COURT.

This term closes the judicial career of Judge Cox, and the bench of North Carolina loses (under the new regime, of reducing the judges, and Judge Cox's term expiring with this court,) the services of one of the purest and most upright judges that ever wore the ermine. His Honor has made a host of friends at every court he has held in the 9th circuit. Such men should be in demand, and we trust that the Democratic party will show their appreciation of his services, by placing him in a position, commensurate with his services to the party, and his ability to serve the State with credit to himself and honor to the party, in any station he may be called on to fill.

TROUBLE IN THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The most intense political excitement prevails amongst the Democrats of the county, resulting from the recent contest between J. M. Odell and Col. P. B. Means, candidates for legislative honors. All agree that the proceedings of the county convention held on the 29th ult., were disgraceful in the extreme, and consequently greatly to be deplored. Charges and counter-charges criminations and recriminations, the most intense bitter personal feelings prevail between the friends of these worthy gentlemen, both of whom are true and tried Democrats, wounds have been made which it is thought can never be healed, and impressions created which can never be effaced.

Your correspondent interviewed all the officials of the Democratic party that time and opportunity afforded as well as friends of each of the gentlemen named, and find that the County Executive Committee, according to the rules governerning the organization or the Democratic party in North Carolina, called on the townships to hold primary meetings on the 15th of June. These primary meetings were held after due notice was given, and eight declared for Odell and four for Col. Means. All of them were largely attended. Townships Nos. 5, 6, and 10, held subsequent irregular meetings, and appointed another set of delegates to the county convention.

The committee on credentials at the county convention, submitted a majority and a minority report, the former in favor of seating the delegates appointed under authority of the regular call, and the latter in favor of the delegates irregularly appointed. Before action on either of these reports, the convention dispersed in great confusion. Subsequently, the chairmen of all the Townships, except two, held a meeting and declared the result of the Township meetings, which result was in favor of Mr. Odell.

Col. Means claims that in Township No. 6, that a petition signed by sixty-seven out of the one hundred and five Democratic voters, protesting against that Township for Odell, was presented, declaring that Means was the choice of that Township; that a similar petition, signed by eighty-five out of the one hundred and sixty-nine Democratic voters of another Township, also declared for him and that at a meeting of the voters of said Townships on the day before the county convention was held he was declared unanimously the choice of that Township.

I could only get the particulars of the proceedings in one of the dissatisfied Townships, which are as follows:

Township No 5, in primary meeting assembled, on the 15th of June, in obedience to the call of the Township Executive Committee, held under the direction of the committee. When it was ascertained that Odell received sixty-three votes and Means seven.

Means' friends allege that at this primary meeting radicals were allowed to vote, and being dissatisfied with the result, endeavored to have another meeting of the voters of the Township, and applied to the Township Committee to call it. The Township Committee applied to the County Committee to say that the Township Committee had the right to call a second meeting of the voters of the township, which request was refused by the County Committee, whereupon three members out of five of the township committee issued the call, and some of the voters assembled, and proceeded to vote, without the presence of a member of the Township Committee; pending the voting, two members of the committee arrived. This second meeting cast twenty votes for Means and two for Odell—the friends of the latter, in the township, not recognizing the authority of the call, did not attend.

Correspondence of the News.

HERTFORD, July 1.

As I have never observed any communications in the News from this place, I will ask for a short space in your columns to publish the fact of her existence, to the rest of the world. Hertford has been distinguished for a conditon of in statu quo, that is, she never has grown any in extent or population, nor has the character of her people ever been changed by time. The fact of her slow growth is a problem difficult of solution, for Deucalion and Pyrrha were never more blessed with progeny than are the good citizens of Hertford. Yet the fact is more the less true. Emigration is rare, deaths are not unusually frequent, but Hertford never grows larger. We are the most self-satisfied people in the world. We hear of the advantages of the great modern improvements—the railroad, telegraph, labor-saving machines, &c., but we are satisfied with the Hertford of our fathers and opposed to such glaring innovations upon their customs. But in retaining the inconveniences of a former generation, she has happily not lost its virtues. Her people are characterized by morality, sobriety and intelligence. Probably no other town in the State is a more liberal patron of educational institutions, in proportion to its size, than Hertford. She supports a High School and an Academy, sending over a hundred pupils to the two schools. Last week the closing exercises of both schools were celebrated. The High School is under the management of O. G. B. McMillan, A. B., Principal, with Mrs. A. E. Barrow and Miss Ruth Peele, assistants.

The Academy is conducted by Prof. W. G. Gaither, A. M. Principal, with Mrs E. Riddick and Miss Lizzie Gilliam assistants. The programme of the Academy was unusually interesting. The whole school engaged in several chorusses and elicited the unbounded applause of a large audience by the enchanting music they produced. The manner in which the students acquitted themselves reflects great credit upon their talented instructors

The crops in this vicinity are very much delayed by the cold Spring and in some places considerably damaged. Our people are more interested in their own occupations than in the politics of the day. But I have already written more than I intended, so adieu for the present. ACHARON.

The Old Minister.

North Carolina Presbyterian.

Hoary heads in the ways righteousness are crowns of honor. How pleasant is to look at the aged clergyman in the pulpit! What vast and varied experience he possesses! How valuable and sustaining are his sermons, that embody those treasures of many years service! Long study of God's truth has enriched him with its wondrous wealth, and practical use has established its preciousness. His growth in grace and knowledge has given him vast stores of garnered wisdom. Golden grain should be scattered freely by this man of God. We listened when a youth to one such, the sainted Archibald Alexander. How simply the old man talked! How much he knew of the human heart and of Christ!

Do not too many turn away from the patriarch in the pulpit? Do not the bowed form and trembling voice rather repel? Do not hearers look for a dull sermon, a cheerless hour of worship? Do not churches fear to call an old man as their shepherd? These things ought not so to be. Aged ministers should highly value the honor bestowed on them of preaching after their scores of years of training by the Master. People should prize the privilege of hearing these tired workmen in the vineyard, who bring old wine on the lees, well refined. Our venerable preachers should more frequently discard dim and ancient manuscripts, and give the Church the benefit of their accumulated experience and fresh studies under the light of the Lord's long teaching. We believe that, then, though their voices lacked the fulness and variety of their maturity, the very feebleness of age, and the freshness of their illuminated thoughts, would give them unwonted power, and seem to mrke their speech glow with shekinal glory from between the cherubim in the Holy of Holies. We thank God for His old ministers.

Receipts and Disbursements by the State.

RALEIGH, July 3, 1878.

H. C. Olive, Esq., Apex, N. C.

MY DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 28th, ult., addressed to J. A. Englehard, Secretary of State, in relation to the receipts and disbursements of the State Government during the past ten or twelve years, has been received and referred to this department for reply.

I herewith furnish you the desired information by giving a statement of the receipts and disbursements at the State Treasury, for eleven years, beginning Oct. 1st., '66 and ending Sept. 30th, '77. You ask also what has the new Constitution saved? I think I can safely say, it is an annual saving to the State of not less than $150,000.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
SAML. L. LOVE, State Auditor.

RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

A comparative statement of the receipts and disbursements at the Public Treasury of North Carolina, from October 1st, 1867, to October 1st, 1877:

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '67, $264,641.12; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '67, $162,945.28.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '68, $327,318·28; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '68, $410,989.91.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '69, $631,606.79; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '69, $769 962.97.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '70, $1,226,617.48; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '70, $1,125,438.10.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '71, $558,147.38; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '71, $645,579,97.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '72, $654,476,21; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '72, $628,532.70.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '73, $481,224.91; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '73, $521,785.14.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '74, $667,114.49; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '74, $448.839.68.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '75, $508,317.68; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '75, $549,316.78.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '76, $524,039.18; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '76, $528,055.22.

Receipts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '77, $533,635.55; disbursements for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, '77, $613,264.59.

In the receipts for the year 1872, are included $115 274.10; in the receipts for the year 1873 are included $4,116.66; in the receipts for the year 1874 are included $91,660.48. These sums were for taxes levied and collected during the years 1872, 1873 and 1874, to meet a deficiency in the Public Treasury for the years 1868, 1869 and 1870, when the expenses were unusually great. Hence they should not be considered a part of the actual expenses of the government for those years, though they are embraced in the disbursements.

The Senatorship.

Wilmington Star.

A Raleigh correspondent of the Norfolk Virginian writes on the 27th concerning the Senatorial squabble as follows:

"The opinion is freely expressed that neither will Merrimon be returned to the Senate nor will Vance be elected. Both Clingman and Leach are popular. Clingman's recent speech, in which he denounced the Presidential fraud, has strengthened him. He is not favorable to Vance, and if Merrimon sees no chance of being elected he may induce his friends to support Clingman. The fight promises to be a warm one."

As far as we can discern the "signs of the times" there is a general, wide spread movement in favor of Vance. This appears to be certain, or the press and the political meetings do not reflect public sentiment. When the Legislature meets there may be some new developments, but at present, we should say, from what we see and hear, that quite two-thirds of the people are for Vance.

Commerce of the Port.

Wilmington Star.

By reference to the books at the Custom House, in this city, we find that the following business was transacted during the month of June just closed:

Duty on imports, received in coin, $1,780.35. Tonnage duty, received in currency, $508.50. Received from other sources, $264.69.

Exports to foreign countries:——18,849 bbls rosin, $32,453; 2,300 bbls. tar, $3,335; 464,120 gallons spirits turpentine, $129,363; 460,334 feet lumber, $7,565; 214,150 shingles, $1,356; 76 plough-castings, $175. Total value, $174,247.

During the month nine vessels entered from and thirteen cleared for foreign ports.

Greensboro Female College.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

A communication from Dr. Jones, relative to Greensboro Female College, was received too late for this issue; it will appear in our next. The Doctor informs us that the failure of Wilson & Shober will in no wise affect the school. This announcement will be received with great satisfaction by our people and the public generally.

Thurman.

Washington Post.

The Ohio papers all agree that Senator Thurman is the unquestioned leader and favorite son of the Democracy of that State, and that he has made a long stride toward the Presidential nomination in 1880.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH.

Congressional Convention.

A Convention of the Democrats and Conservatives of the Fourth District, will be held in the city of Raleigh, on Thursday the 22nd day of August next for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress. Each county will be entitled to one vote for every one hundred votes and fractional part over fifty, given for Gov. Vance in 1876.

By order of District Ex. Committee,
H. A. LONDON, Jr.
July 2, 1878. Chairman.

The Democratic papers in the District will please copy.

POLITICAL bias, and not "political bribery" was what was written yesterday of the coming Supreme Court.

CHATHAM instructs for Hon. John Manning, for Congress. She also pledges her candidate for the Legislature to abide and support the caucus action in the Senatorial matter.

THE Governor will not return to Raleigh for some days. The condition of Mrs. Vance demands his presence. He will take her to Morganton on Friday or Saturday, the Charlotte Observer announces, and he will probably return here by Tuesday.

MAJOR ROGER P. ATKINSON, Engineer of the Oxford and Henderson Railroad, did not say that he estimated the solid rock excavations on his line at ten cents per cubic yard. That was the engineering of the News compositor and proof reader. Engineer Atkinson put down the excavations and embankments at ten cents per cubic yard for earth, and solid rock excavations at one dollar per cubic yard.

THE first bale has come and gone. It came from Southern Texas, and passed through Charlotte on its way North, Tuesday, the second instant, by the Richmond and Danville Railroad, consigned to a firm in New York, instructed to forward it to the Paris Exposition. This cotton must have been out of the boll by June twenty-fifth. First blooms will now retire. Bolls will not stand much show after this.

ELIZA SHERMAN says that John Pinkston—no, John Pinkston says Eliza Sherman—that's not it either. Pinkston says that Sherman gave her five hundred dollars to swear to the lie that the Democrats murdered her husband, and maltreated her; that it was in fact the work of colored men. But John paid her the money, $450 of which she loaned to a Republican "statesman" and lost it. Fifty to four-fifty, Sherman managed it to get that money back in that way.

THE Raleigh correspondent of the New York Times, laboriously belabors what he is pleased to term the Democratic gerrymander of the State congressional districts. He practically abandons all but the second district, but assimilates a hope in the first, runs up John N. Bunting as a Republican possibility in the fourth, and thinks something might be done in the fifth. He winds up by saying:—"If the congressional committee desires to help any district in the State, the first and fourth present the best field, with a fair show of success." This is weak music.

Vance as a Party Man.

The Charlotte Observer has brought forward the letter of Governor Vance withdrawing himself from the Senatorial contest in November, 1872, and it is reproduced in this paper as his vindication to the claims of a strict party man under any and all circumstances.

Who that reads this letter to-day in the light of all the occurrences that succeeded it, can but admire and applaud the spirit which inspired it? "Duty and patriotism both demand "that my preferment should yield to "the common good, and I cheerfully "make the sacrifice. I regard the Con"servative-Democratic party as the "main hope of the country. I have "never seen the hour when I would not "willingly surrender any personal aspi"ration whatever, if, thereby, I might "in any degree uphold its hands. I re"turn to my home. There, as in the "past I have done, so in the future I "shall continue, with all my ability, to "advocate and labor for the success of "our cause, expecting only the appro"bation of my countrymen."

Words are cheap, sentiment is cheap and professions are easy. But here was a man who had received the almost unanimous nomination of the Legislature for a seat in the Senate of the United States, and he voluntarily laid down that nomination, when, to persist in the contest with less than twenty gentlemen of the Senate and House, who by the way did not in their action represent the majority of their constituents, was to produce a schism in the Democracy of the Legislature. In obedience to a sense of party duty in the emergency, contrary to the advice and wishes of his friends, he cheerfully made the sacrifice of withdrawing himself from the Senatorial contest, when the high position had for a week been nearly within his grasp, and which by every party usage he should have had on the very first ballot. But he withdrew, and did it, not that his friends, or any of them, were about to abandon him, or because the people desired that he should withdraw; but he did it in what he conceived to be the interest of the Democratic party; for he had not seen the hour when he would hesitate to surrender any personal aspiration, whatever, if thereby he might in any degree uphold the hands of the Democracy.

It is well to recur to these things now. It is said that the Senatorial aspirations of Governor Vance and Senator Merrimon again threaten the unity, peace and harmony of the Democratic party; and the suggestion comes through papers not friendly to Vance, and not unfriendly to Merrimon, that it is the proper thing for Governor Vance to again withdraw from the contest—better for the good of the party to retire both Vance and Merrimon. They are a queer set of political philosophers who reason that the aspirations of gentlemen to high places endanger the harmony and efficiency of party organization, and it is an extraordinary doctrine, worthy of the school which teaches the "Jury of the Legislature" that every man who may desire a position or shall have been suggested for a place by his friends, must retire, if another person be found aspiring to the same. It was the rule in this country that any man might offer himself a candidate for office, and the matter of his election was with the people before whom he came. They generally settled the question of his retention or retirement, at the ballot box. Then the convention plan came into use, and it has been the rule of public men to submit themselves before these political tribunals, and they determined the matter as to the candidacy of aspirants to office. In Legislative bodies the caucus was adopted, and therein questions of strict party significance were settled. Candidates for offices filled by legislatures come before the caucus, and the choice of the caucus is the party nominee. A party man refusing to submit himself to the caucus, who either remained out of it, or refused to abide by its action, was always considered a bolter, and by his party treated accordingly. But it is a new school of politics which prohibits a man from presenting his name to a convention or a caucus for consideration and appropriate action. And it is a most extraordinary doctrine this, which condemns a popular candidate for a high place, and says he must not present himself before the councils of his party, because, forsooth, there are others who desire the same place. They are spelling Cincinnati with a K now, and the Chapel Hill campus has been turned into a Kindergarten. This new school of politics may be all right, but plain practical people will require time to think about it. You don't get your newfangled notions through the North Carolina head in a hurry.

Governor Vance has never in his life offended party law, or in the slightest particular violated party discipline. He submits himself always to the party will. The caucus action is to him a rule of party conduct. He has no aspiration to assert in opposition to the decision of the majority. He is a majority man; the creature, to an eminent degree, of popular majorities. He is a favorite of majorities. He takes to majorities, and majorities take to him, as naturally as ducks take to water. How this man, whose life is but an example of political loyalty and party discipline, can, as a candidate for any office, prove a source of disaster to party organization, no one in all North Carolina has risen up to say. If the people of this State do not want Governor Vance advanced to the Senate of the United States, it is only necessary for the Democrats of the Legislature in caucus next winter to say so. Then the matter will end, so far as he is concerned. He does not desire the place, and his friends do not desire it for him, if he be not the party choice. His commission would have to be countersigned by the Democratic party before he would receive it. He would not hold the certificate of a Senator that had not been issued in compliance with the sentiments and wishes of the majority of Democrats in North Carolina.

Fourth of July.

Conforming to a custom which has become a law among the printers here, no paper will be issued from this office to-morrow, all hands giving themselves up to the enjoyment and observance of the great national holiday.

The News is sufficiently attached to the men and memories of the past to welcome, with the old zeal and feelings of national pride, the fourth of July. It is a glorious day, for it marks in history one of the grandest of events. An event made illustrious in the nation's annals by Southern brain and Southern blood. A national day, the story which it recalls is the story of a nation's valor. And it is the day equally of all the States, especially of the Old Thirteen, which, when they first stood together and dared the British Lion, proclaimed that the "Cause of Boston is the Cause of All." So now, this day is the day of all.

It was but natural, at the close of the war, that the then recent events should obscure the brilliant history of the older past, and that the Southern heart should be cold to the traditions and inspirations of the old national glory. But time is a great physician, and heals all wounds. Bitterness of war has died at the hands of peace; a new generation of men have grown up; who recollect few of the scenes of the great civil strife; things have adjusted themselves on the national basis; and every one writes himself again a citizen of the United States.

Therefore observance of the great natal day is coming back into fashion, and throughout the South to-day, all, both white and black, will realize that the fourth of July has come in all its old time significance, of national pride and American glory.

Old Newspapers.

Through the kindness and interestedness of Mr. Ward, of the Murfressboro Enquirer, the State Museum has been the recipient of some old copies of the Hornets' Nest, and Murfreesboro Gazette, dating back to 1812, the Hornets' Nest having been established September the third of that year.

The head of the paper is embellished with an engraving of a gentleman in kneebreeches, sitting under a tree, from which is suspended a huge hornets' nest, engaged in writing on a large sheet supposed to be "stamp act" paper, and the writer a Britisher; in fact it is a representation of English royalty in the colonies. Thirteen immense hornets are flying from the nest toward the man, and one is apparently about lighting on the hand which holds the pen.

The motto of the paper is:—"Qui me commoverit (mellus non tangere clamo)
"Flebit, et insignis tota cantabitur urbe."

The paper is "By Bryant Bramble Esq.," and published at three dollars a year. The first page is all occupied with "Domestick," presenting the debates in Congress on the American Navy, which was then undergoing preparation for the war with England, which had already begun. A message from James Madison, President, transmits to the House of Representatives a communication from James Monroe, Secretary of State, on the subject of search for and seizure of alleged British subjects on board the United States men-of-war, "Nautilus" and "Wasp," and private armed vessel the "Sarah Ann," by English war ships, which was the cause of war between the two countries at the time.

Descriptive lists of sailors so seized are also appended. Brother Jonathan evidently had the bottoms of his breeches elevated considerably above his shoe tops about this time, and was "goldarned riled" generally.

A diplomatic correspondence also ensues between Secretary of State Monroe, and John Borlase Warren, Admiral of the Blue and Commander in Chief, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Gen. Pinckney writes the Secretary of War from Charleston, that he had ordered the retention of twelve British prisoners as hostages for six American sailors reported to be undergoing trial for treason at Jamaica.

A Corrunna letter by London Packet reports that at Madrid the Holy Tribunal of the Inquisition had been re-established.

Twelve military men of the French army had arrived at Philadelphia to tender their swords, and four ships of the line and three frigates were fitting out at Brest to take sides with the Americans.

The English ship Polyphemus had captured the privateer James Madison, ten guns and seventy-five men.

Commodore Rodgers, with the frigate President, accompanied by the frigate Congress, and Capt. Smith of the brig Argus, had arrived at Boston, having been on a cruise destroying the enemy's commerce.

A prize to the privateer Revenge, had been brought into Wilmington.

The names of such sea dogs as Commander Crane, Lieut. Habbitt, Purser Geo. J. Wise, Capt. Smith and Commodore Rodgers, figure in the historic pages of the Hornet's Nest.

Colonel Campbell, Capt. Hite, Capt. Pierce, Lieut. Waltz, Capt. Markle, Capt. Trotter, and Lieuts. Basey and Hickman were fighting the Massasoit Indians near Franklinton, Ohio.

Wm. H. Winder and Samuel Angus, of the army, had composed a duel between Gen. Porter and Gen. Smyth, after one shot each, at Black Rock, on Grand Island, near Buffalo, New York; Gen. Smyth being the challenger, provoked by an insinuation of cowardice by Gen. Porter.

From the Milledgeville Journal is copied accounts of Indian engagements in Florida with Col. Hawkins, in which King Payne was mortally wounded and Bow Legs shot through the arm. The upper Creeks had returned home badly whipped.

The editorials are "hot as a hornet." Here are some of the captions:—"A Bone for Tories." "John Bull's Bottle Holder." "A Tory's way to Health, or a Coat of Tar and Feathers." "Traitors." "Tories."

The member of Congress from the first district writes a letter to his Murfreesboro constituents.

These musty old files and time-stained sheets silently and eloquently proclaim a nation's progress. Only sixty-six years, but what changes?.

SOME breezes blowing from the Rio Grande are scented with the odors of a prospective war with Mexico. John Bull and the Russian Bear seem slow about it, and, by way of relieving the monotony, Uncle Sam could perhaps do nothing better than stir up the greasers across the Rio Grande. Old Tecumseh Sherman, the Bummer warrior, is said to be "spilin for a fight;" while the Administration, weary of the dull stupidity of reveling in stolen goods, is quite in the humor for trying its hand at the higher order of possessing that of another—armed conquest. Tiring of Tilden sauce, Mr. Hayes is said to be quite willing to season up for a while with the spice of danger. It would also give the Secretary of War something to do other than guarding the stolen letter books of the State of North Carolina.

THE Washington Post announces that instead of scattering its fire all over the South, the Republican party has decided to concentrate all its guns on a single district in North Carolina. This means a struggle for the first district. No use.

W. W. BENNETT.

(From Rev. Mr. Cameron, Minister of the Presbyterian Church South.)
MOSSY CREEK, Tenn., August 22, 1876.
Xanthine Co., Richmond, Va.:
I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing all you claim for it. It is an excellent tonic a pleasant dressing, removing and preventing dandruff and all unpleasant itching, promoting and preserving the natural growth and color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.

Good State Farming.

The Steward of the Insane Asylum James H Moore, Esq., yesterday exhibited a lot of twenty ounce Irish potatoes selected at random on the Asylum farm. This may be called successful and economicial farming.

The Base Ball Game of the Season.

We understand the "Huckleberry Blues" B. B. C. will arrive this a. m. and the match game of base ball betwen that club and the Swiftfoot B. B. C. of this city. will take place at the Swiftfoot grounds, usually known as the "Baptist Grove," at 4 o'clock.

Spectators may look for an unusually interesting game. The "Huckleberry's" are a good nine, and the reputation that Swiftfoot boys have already accuqired for themselves, is too generally known to require comment at our hands, Ladies are especially invited, for whom seats will be prepared, and all necessary arrangements made. The Italian string and Cornet Brass Bands, will be on the grounds.

Licenses Issued in June.

During the month of June the Treasurer issued twenty-eight drummers licenses, as follows: To houses in Richmond, Va., 9; Baltimore, Md., 9; Petersburg, 1; Philadelphia, 1; Atlanta, Ga., 1; Charleston, S. C., 1; Norfolk, 1; Boston, 1; and four to houses in North Carolina. Not a license was issued to a New York house during the month, which seems strange, especially, when it is known that a great many drummers from New York houses are now traveling through the State. Baltimore, formerly, has taken out the greatest number of license, but for some time past Richmond has been gaining ground, and it will be seen that last month she took out quite as many as the first named city.

Supreme Court.

Court met at 9 o'clock yesterday—all the Justices present.

Call of appeals from the 11th district was resumed

Alexander Wiseman vs. M. P. Penland et als., from McDowell; argued by A. C. Avery and W. H. Malone, for the plaintiff, and J. H. Merrimon for the defendants.

J. W. Dobson vs. J. G. Chambers, administrator, from Buncombe; petition by the defendant to re-hear; argued by J. H. Merrimon for the petitioner, and Busbee & Busbee for the respondent.

William Gardner et als. vs. A. G. Anderson, from Buncombe; argued by J. H. Merrimon for the defendant, no counsel for the plaintiff.

Court adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) morning, when the consideration of causes from the 11th district will be resumed.

At the Geological Museum.

Yesterday a reporter of the News made a visit to the Geological Museum and was shown by Mr. T. C. Harris, Prof. Kerr's assistant, a magnificent collection of native woods which will shortly be placed in the museum by Prof. Kerr, for the purpose of showing the resources of the State. The collection embraces 148 different kinds, viz: the two varieties of gum; white and black walnut; six varieties of oak; five of pine, including the curled, which is peculiarly adapted to the manufacture of cabinet furniture, and it is said is only found in North Carolina; the four varieties of birch; three of maple; two of poplar; three of hickory; and one of sassafras, white ash, mulberry, buckeye, china tree, wahoo, mimosa, holly, service, ivy, witch hazel, laurel, linn, dogwood, black locust, wild cherry, persimmon, sycamore, sour wood, cucumber, apple, black ash, horny locust, hornbeam, snowdrop tree, buckwood, ironwood and ailanthus.

These specimens are of uniform size, and about two feet in length, the upper part of one side of each piece of wood is highly polished, showing the naked wood, the lower part is varnished to give the grain, the bark is also left on the block in order that they may be seen in all states. These woods were collected in the Western portion of the State at considerable expense and were polished under the direction of Prof. Kerr. They are now ready to be put on exhibition, but in order to give more room, Prof. Kerr is having a large show case put up in the centre of the museum, immediately under the skylight, for their reception and at the top and bottom of which will be placed other smaller cases in which will be put specimens of minerals and native fish preserved in alcohol. These cases will be finished in a few days, when the woods will be put on exhibition.

In addition to the above, the Prof. has another lot of specimens in course of preperation, which will also be placed on exhibition as soon as they have been varnished and polished.

A CURIOUS STUMP.

Mr. Samuel Barnes, of Hertford county, has sent to the Geological Museum a piece of wood which is supposed to be a part of the stump of a cypress tree, found in digging a well twenty-eight feet below the earth's surface. The wood is apparently sound, and is very light, it appears to, have been broken off, and one side of it to have been burnt. The stump, when found, was in its natural position, with the exception of the singularity above noted, having twenty-eight feet of solid earth above it.

NATURAL GOLD LEAVES.

Mr. P. R. Hines, of this city, last week deposited in the museum a very large spray of natural gold leaves taken from the John Mitchell Mine in Burke county. Every leaf of which is perfect in shape and the whole spray looks as if it might have been the work of an expert jeweller.

New Schedule West.

The attention of the reader is called to the changed schedule of the North Carolina Railroad from Raleigh Westward.

The mail and express from Greensboro now arrives here at 11:25 a. m., and lies over util 1:30 p. m., when it proceeds to Goldsboro, making close connection with trains for New Berne and Wilmington at 3:55 p. m.

Going West the return train arrives at Raleigh at 2:56 p. m., and lies over until 5:25 p. m., when it proceeds to Charlotte, arriving at 1:48 a. m., making close connection with the Air Line Road for Spartanburg, South Carolina.

This change was made to avoid the lay over at Greensboro, both ways, and to accommodate the Summer travel to the West. By the 5:25 train, passengers arrive at Asheville at one o'clock the next day, and have the benefit of sleeping cars from Greensboro to Spartanburg, which is from ten o'clock until broad day light.

Fare by this route as low as any other, the Air Line and Spartanburg new, and all are equipped with automatic air brakes.

The stage route is but thirty miles, over good mountain roads, and the fourhorse coaches are elegant and commodious.

Passengers West also have choice of routes via Salisbury, Old Fort, Henry and Asheville, and via Danville, Lynchburg, Bristol, Morristown, and Wolf Creek to Warm Springs. Rates of fare about the same by the latter, as the others, and is all rail, except eight miles of good staging through a country of most magnificent scenery, and time eighteen or twenty hours. Tickets by all routes for sale at all offices of the North Carolina Railroad.

In the Country.

Several ladies and gentlemen drove out to the farm of Mr. Jno. G. Williams yesterday afternoon, and from the description of the pleasant time enjoyed, doubtless the party will pay him another visit soon. Driving into the yard they found the old gentleman enjoying a pleasant nap under the trees. The gentlemen endeavored to awake him, but they failed, but when the young ladies began to chatter and the moving of calico resounded around him somehow or other he speedily awoke. After making the party merry by some of his inimitable jokes, a visit was made to the orchard, where peaches of every variety was found, after enjoying the delicious fruit, the party wished to indulge in some amusements, nothing could be thought of, but Mr. Williams was equal to the emergency, he vanished for a few moments and soon brought forth an air pistol, a blow gun, bow and arrows and ten pins, which he keeps specially for the amusement of his friends. After having a most delightful time the party returned about 8½ o'clock, after agreeing that their worthy host deserved a unanimous vote of thanks for his hospitality.

Excursion to Beaufort.

The Methodists of Raleigh are getting up an excursion to Beaufort, to come off about Monday the 22nd instant. The proceeds are to be applied to building the new Metropolitan Church. The fare for the round trip will be about $2,50, and leaving on Monday, the excursion proposes to return on Thursday. The whole affair will be under the care and management of a committee of arrangements, and the very best order will be maintained, and every precaution taken to guard against accidents. Parents, who cannot themselves go, need not hesitate to entrust their families with the managers of the excursion. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Details of the arrangements, with full particlars and information, will be hereafter given, and the committee, managers and marshals announced.

The Tobacco Tax.

The prolonged agitation of the tobacco tax question has undoubtedly wrought much injury to the trade, but the more that is said about Barham's Infallible Pile Cure the better it will be for those suffering from Hemorrhoids or Piles. It never fails to releive. Try a box. Price $1.00, sent post paid. Made by the Barham Pile Cure Co., Durham, N. C, 6t.

Consumption Cured.

An old physcian, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a postive radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for peparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y. *

VEGETINE.

The Very Best Medicine.

—FOR—

DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION.

NEWTON, N. H., March 27, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—Once more I take the pen to praise that king of medicines, Vegetine. When I began to take Vegetine two years ago with such marked benefit, my friends thought it was a stimulant effect, and would soon subside, leaving me as bad as before. Thinking that some of those who read the testimonial which I wrote at that time, might think the same, I write once more to satisfy them on that point. Since I began to take Vegetine, almost two years ago, I have gained steadily until the present time, at which I am enjoying my former health, and consider myself cured by Vegetine. Two years ago I was as low as man could be and live. I was confined to the bed for eight months, and given up to die by eight doctors some of the most skilled in this State. They said I had several diseases, including consumption, heart disease, and several others, equally fatal, and must die. But Vegetine, taken as a last resort, brought me through, and to that I owe my life. Since my health began to improve, I have made a study of disease, and find the cause of all my symptoms to have been Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and I also find that five cases of disease of every six, are effects of the same cause. When the food is not properly digested in the stomach, it becomes a poisonous, putrid mass, which is absorbed into the blood, and by that it is conveyed to all parts of the system, causing symptoms of disease in any or all of the organs of the body, and if this cause is not removed, these symptoms become in time organic diseases. I have given Vegetine a thorough test in my own case, and also in that of many of my acquaintances, and find it to be the very best medicine extant for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, one of the symptoms of which is usually the belief that you have some fatal organic disease. I am well known in the towns of Goffstown, Weare and Newton of this State (N. H), and can furnish an undeniable corroboration of all of these statements. I will willingly answer any letters of inquiry in regard to my case, or the use of Vegetine.

Yours truly,
A. J. BURBECK.

If Vegetine is taken regularly, according to directions, a certain and speedy cure of Dyspepsia will follow its use.

FOR Asthma.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—For the last fifteen years, during the months of May and June, I have been afflicted with what the doctors called Asthma. It was very distressing, rendering me miserable, so that I dreaded its coming on. I was recommended to use Vegetine I took two bottles before I expected the attack, and was entirely relieved I feel grateful to Vegetine.

PIMPLES

AND

HUMORS ON THE FACE.

In this condition of the skin, the Vegetine is the great remedy, as it acts directly upon the blood. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors to disappear by internal treatment all impurities are thrown out. Vegetine gives a good circulation to the blood, relieving the inflamed or congested organism, restoring the health, giving a good, clear complexion.
